CLEMENT J. MATHEWS KILLED WHEN CAUGHT UNDER AUTO

Charleroi Business Man Meets Tragic Death in Accident Near Waynesburg

STARTING ON HUNTING TRIP

Others in Party With Him, But Only One Other, Rudolph Brendt is Injured—Body Being Brought Home This Afternoon.

Crushed under his automobile when it turned turtle on the road about two miles west of Waynesburg, Clement J. Mathews, aged about 40 and head of the People's Real Estate Agency of Charleroi, was almost instantly killed this morning at 3 o'clock. Rudolph Brendt of Charleroi and an elderly gentleman from Pittsburg whose name could not be learned from Waynesburg were in the car with Mathews. Brendt was injured slightly, but the other was unhurt.

Mathews and his party and D. R. Duvall and a party consisting of himself, James Carter, Charles Abbott of Charleroi and Anson Sickles of Pittsburg left Charleroi at midnight for a point west of Waynesburg on a few days hunting trip. They reached Waynesburg in good time and left shortly before three o'clock.

The accident which resulted so tragically occurred at a bend in the road. Mathews was driving along at a fair rate when he approached the bend. Rains within the last few hours had put the highway in poor condition and his machine was inclined to skid. Approaching the bend it simply tumbled over the embankment at the side.

Mathews was caught under the car. Evidently the steering wheel bending as a result of the impact, secured Mathews in his seat and held him in such a way as to cause his death injuries. He had a mark back of his right ear and also a bad bruise on his chest. Whether his neck was broken or not was not determined.

Brendt was riding in the seat with Mathews and was thrown out. So was the elderly gentleman in the rear seat. Brendt's injuries were chiefly about the hips.

Close behind Duvall was following with his party. They lifted the machine from Mathews and hurriedly summoned aid. Brendt was hurried to a doctor. Telephone messages were sent to Charleroi of the affair. Later

TESTIMONY FILED IN DIVORCE ACTION FROM WEST BROWNSVILLE

In the divorce action of William B. Robbins against Nellie B. Robbins the testimony has been filed. The libellant is a railroad man, living at West Brownsville. He seeks separation on the grounds of desertion. He was married to the respondent on September 15, 1895 and she left him on July 10, 1910. They lived for a year after their marriage at Nanticoke, this state and later at Wyoming, in Luzerne county. They removed from there to Pittsburg, where they lived eight years. On July 10, 1910, while living at West Brownsville and while he was at work he says she left him and has not returned. He says she had no cause to leave but she appeared not to want to be tied down to married life. He says he gave her $100 a month to keep up the home, but notwithstanding she was not satisfied. He says she was filthy in her habits, never kept the house tidy and allowed herself and the children to go dirty and dress shabbily.

COAL RECORDS FOR TEN MONTHS HIGH

Exceptional Mark of 1913 is Approached With the Best Month October

BUSINESS IS BRIGHTENING

Judging from the coal record for the first ten months of this year locked through Lock No. 4 1915 will be second only to 1913 as a shipping year. The ten months record does not equal that of the exceptional 1913 record, but it approaches it close.

During the first ten months of 1913 there were 174,984,000 bushels of coal shipped through Lock No. 4. During the first ten months of this year the coal record through the lock was 165,964,000, or about 10,000,000 bushels less than that of 1913.

The best month of 1913 was October. So was October the best month of this year so far. However the coal business is getting better right along and demands are becoming greater. There may be a feverish close which will bring the records of November and December up to an exceptional mark.

THOUSANDS INVOLVED IN THOMPSON SUITS

Large Sums Sought by Creditors in Fayette County—Exemplifications Filed in Washington and Greene Counties

Suits involving many thousands of dollars were filed at Uniontown Monday in the courts against J. V. Thompson by attorneys representing the creditors of the former president of the First National Bank of Uniontown. The suits represent money the Uniontown banker is said to have borrowed from men and women in many walks of life in Fayette county. So many have been the suits that the clerks in the prothonotary's office are required to work overtime filing and indexing them.

It was reported that the creditors committee will go to New York to confer with Mr. Thompson concerning the quantity and character of assets he has agreed to assign for his creditors. These assets are to be turned over by the end of the month.

Exemplification of judgment entered in Fayette county were filed in this county Monday against J. V. Thompson, W. M. Thompson, D. L. Durr, and S. C. Hogsett as a result of the financial tangle of the affairs of J. V. Thompson and his associates. The exemplifications were filed because Mr. Thompson and his associates hold much coal land in this county.

Exemplification of records were entered in the Greene county courts on suits filed in Fayette county in connection with J. V. Thompson's failure; Against J. V. Thompson, $42,000; against W. M. Thompson, $90,000; against A. A. Thompson, $2,000; against F. M. Semans, Jr., $6,900; against Jasper Augistine, $2,689; against J. T. Barnes et al, $11,000.

IS ARRESTED FOR THE THEFT OF OWN TOGS

Bentleyville Man Has Unusual Experience in Uniontown Just Because He Saw Double—New Comedy of Errors Staged.

After having caused himself to be arrested for stealing his own hunting outfit, Harry V. Fischer of Bentleyville was able with the assistance of Patrolman Ewing Holmes at Uniontown to convince the police that he hadn't stolen anything and after serving 24 hours for drunkenness, was allowed to go on his way.

Friday night Fischer wandered into the police station, feeling the way he would like to feel all the time and left description of a hunting outfit which he said had been stolen from him, including a pump gun, a hunting coat bearing license number 2210 and other impedimenta. He said he had been with a man who was stopping at the Titlow hotel and believed that this party had the artillery.

This proved later to be merely the effect of seeing double. When the fumes had retreated from Fischer's head to a certain extent, he realized that he had lost nothing, and forthwith proceeded to go out on Saturday morning and accumulate a jag which was a credit to the county. It was while he was in this state of alcoholic bliss that Patrolman Elmer Hill, who had read the description of the stolen property at the police station, noted the way in which it tallied in with the uniform containing Fisher and his bun, and immediately put Fisher under arrest.

On arriving at the police station, Fisher forgot that he was a gentleman and proceeded to use some language that he had heard while Ringling Bros' show crew were putting up the big top. Whereupon an additional charge of drunkness was entered against him and he was assisted to a cell, protesting vigorously.

Sunday morning Fischer woke up and realized that he hadn't a friend in the world. His tongue tasted like a rug and he felt in general as if he had swallowed a radiator and the man had gone down to fix it. In a meek and chastened spirit he appeared before thebar of justice and besought the powers that be to believe him in his statement that he was honest-to the-Lord Harry Fischer and that only the fact that Samuel Thompson, et al, had grossly misrepresented things to him had caused him to enter a charge against himself.

He appeared to be in such deadly earnest over the matter that Ewing Holmes was summoned and the man's identity established. Accordingly, having completed a sufficient term for the drunkenness charge, and in consideration for his mental anguish, he was turned loose, with his outfit intact and with a hangover furnishing a firm foundation for the construction of other and better jags.

TWO HAVE NARROW ESCAPE WHEN AUTO MADLY DASHES DOWN FIFTH

GUENTHERS FINALLY EJECTED FROM THEIR PROPERTY AT ELCO

John Guenther, the aged Elco German and his wife, who held Deputy Sheriff George Hornbake, constables and the Pennsylvania railroad company at bay for several days have surrendered and accepted service of the papers. The husband was arrested on Wednesday but his wife continued to hold the fort and would not let the officers enter the house.

Saturday an entrance was affected through a window and the old lady subdued. After some parleying she concluded to vacate. The goods were then placed on a wagon and removed from the premises. The suit for obstructing a legal process was withdrawn and the railroad company will now go ahead with the work of reconstructing the public road, which was ordered by the court.

Constable F. W. Jones and Prisoner Have Wild Ride In Skidding Machine

PLUNGE ACROSS RAILROA

Car Clears Tracks at Station With Double Jump. Both Jones and His Unwilling Passenger Being Hurled From Their Seats.

Only the fact that Constable Frank W. Jones managed to keep control of his automobile and the fact that nothing got in the way probably saved his life and that of a prisoner. Lee Jackson, when the machine raced down Fifth street at a wild speed Monday evening at 5:45 o'clock. It didn't stop until it crashed and bounced across the tracks at the station. Jackson tumbled out at about the first bounce. Constable Jones was thrown from his machine when it was brought to a sudden halt. Jackson had a rib fractured, but Constable Jones was practically unhurt.

Fifth street was slippery from the rains of Monday and a slight coating of earth. Constable Jones was returning from back of Charleroi with Jackson whom he had arrested on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife. He put the machine into low gear at Crest avenue and started down the hill, anticipating no evil. Hardly had he applied the brakes until he realized the car was sliding and gaining momentum.

Constable Jones guided the machine into the curbing at the south side of the street above the home of Kerfoot W. Daly, but the curbing was damp and the tires were damp so that the front wheels only bounced away. The only thing he could do was to apply the brakes as well as possible and endeavor to control the course of the skidding machine. This miraculously he did.

Though at an hour when pedestrians are usually numerous on the street and wagons, cars and other vehicles are to be seen in considerable numbers on Fifth, there were comparatively few there. The noise of the oncoming machine frightened the few who were on the street to the sidewalk and until Mr. Jones and his unwilling passenger got to McKean avnue, they had a clear field.

At McKean there were three or four autos standing. Constable Jones even then retained control of the machine and steered his flying car between them, striking the curbing at the railroad station fair. Traveling at a speed conservatively estimated by witnesses at from 60 to 65 miles an hour the automobile catapulted into the air to a distance of about eight feet and shot forward to the board platform. Taking another bounce it covered the intervening

WAR AND HORSE SENSE

The Monongahela valley is the busiest place in all creation, and the coal mines, coke ovens and industries of all sorts are making things dark with coal dust and smoke. Workmen are in greater demand than ever before. Prosperous conditions obtain, and a much anticipated boom has at last arrived. Months of waiting ought to make us happy. But we realize the situation is too precarious. The war in Europe, creating first of all a demand for certain manufactured products which the United States only can supply and shutting out automatically all imports has created these prosperous conditions. It is through no wisdom nor foresight on our part that they were brought on. Whatever we did, on the contrary, was detrimental to home industry and this was, to get at the point, the passage of the free trade tariff bill. Fate has played into our hands magnificently of late, but the war will not last. Then we must watch out. We cannot afford free trade. We cannot stand the preying upon our business that will inevitably follow the close of the world war. Europe must recover itself and we must protect ourselves. Wise principals must be adopted. That is the reason why this tariff question must be handled cautiously in the next few months to come and why Republicanism must triumph at the polls next year.

LEGAL INSANITY.

One of the Chicago papers has hit upon an exposure and reform that ought to be speedily converted into a national crusade. It is entitled "Useless Laws Driving Us to Lawlessness." It deals with the appalling increase in arrests in American cities, and also rural communities, due to statute and ordinances that are the result of reformed-crazed people, says the Grand Rapids, Ia., Evening Times.

We boast of being a free people, self-governed and all that, yet we make more interference with the liberties of the people than any other country on earth, and we have a record of more arrests and more men who have been compelled to look through the steel bars of jail. And we endure it without protest. Most of the laws under which these appaling arrests are made are the fulminations of half-diseased brains, men and women crazy with the idea of making others conform to their standards of moral or even living. We see legislature after legislature piling on these useless laws and most of us have become so cowardly that we are afraid to protest some for fear of being called unprogressive if we do not fall into line with each new theory of the social reformers.

Those who by reason of balanced brains ought to be influential at the polls are apathetic, disgusted with the whole "game" or merely cowardly and often they do not want their money making processesses interfered with and so it is that we have our statues clogged with laws that do not represent public sentiments or opinion, laws that make criminals of thousands of Americans and put on the stain of arrest and imprisonment.

Another of those distasteful shooting affairs is reported from Monessen where rivalry in a love affair led two men into a quarrel and gun play, on of the pair on the bargain being a married man. For such individuals it seems the legal penalties are insufficient. They ought to make them work for a definite period, producing something definite with which to pay for their misdeeds.

Why should not Charleroi become a music center? Qualifications are necessary of course but the organization nucleus of the Charleroi Symphony indicates the existence of musical men of talent in Charleroi's industries. To support a symphony orchestra of any consequence whatever requires the hearty cooperation of the people of a community. Music is expensive. True the conduct of any sort of a musical organization here must be different from that in a city, from a financial standpoint, but the support which must be tendered to make the organization live and thrive must be of the same sort.

People do love to get excited. Forty-three thousand men and women who saw nothing else went insane at Forbes Field last Saturday when a championship football game was on the card. Others who didn't care for that sort of thing were up in the deisy woods somewhere with a gun in search of game. Elsewhere others were racing or jumping, all with the same degree of enthusiasm. We love to get excited and we love to do it with a magnificant exhileration but with a spirit of outlandish boisterousness. It isn't human nature for us to keep ourselves penned up. The soured professor goes off his handle at some new wrinkle in science or the staid business man goes into raptures at the successful outcome of a financial venture. It is all the same all the way through. Realization of this makes us feel kindlier toward the tow-headed imp of a boy who cheerfully chucks his football through a window to note the crash or the chronic grouch whose invariable greeting is an insufferable frown.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The father, anxious to impress his offspring with a spirit of thankfulness, repeated at the super table, as he had often done before: "Remember, children, when I was a boy I often went to bed hungry and seldom had a square meal."

"Well, that shows how much better off you are since you have known us," replied Willie, who was tired of hearing about it.

A lady in San Francisco engaged a Chinese cook. When the celestial came, among other things she asked his name. "My name," said the Chinaman, smiling, "is Wang Hang Ho." "O, I can't remember all that!" said the lady. "I will call you John." John smiled all over, and asked: "What your name?" "My name is Mrs. Melville Landon." "Me no memble all that," said John. "Chinaman he no savey Mrs. Membul London. I call you Tommy".—Watchman

Betcha!

"What's a bird man?" said young Bess
To her pa, Mr. Schuster
"A bird man?" he retorted. "Oh, yes.
A bird man is a rooster."

Fairy Tales.

"Pleased to meet you."
"I had to work late."
"I can take a drink or let it alone."
"My, isn't your baby pretty?"
"We have never had a quarrel since we were married."

Sure.

"It may seem queer," said Mr. Burke.
"But you can bet it's so,
An idle rumor does more work
Than anything I know."

The Wise Fool.

"Politeness costs nothing," remarked the sage.

"Maybe that's the reason why most people have no use for it," added the fool."

Betcha!

This world we could improve, I say,
Our progress would be ample
If we had less advice each day
And much more good example.

Sure.

Gabe—What is the difference between an apartment and a flat?

Steve—About $25 per month.

TOYLAND

Next Saturday, November 13th, our wonderful stocks of Christmas Toys will be ready for inspection. It will be a memorable day for little folks, because Santa Claus is to be here, with a souvenir for every girl and boy.

A characteristic Horne collection of fine toys--literally packs and packs of toys and dolls from American and European workshops, will be displayed. The heart's desire of every child can be answered, if Santa is told about it.

Mothers and daddies should make arrangements to be present for this occasion, which means so much to their children, and we premise them they will consider the time well spent. The gleeful happiness of the youngsters, alone, is worth seeing.

Bring them to Pittsburgh, next Saturday, to this big reception in honor of Santa Claus.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS SPENT ON STOMACH

Pennsylvania Man Gets Quick Remedy for His Long Suffering Stomach.

Henry F. Curry of the Hotel Bartlett at Cambridge Springs, Pa., suffered most desperately from ailments of the stomach and digestive tract for years. He spent a fortune in the pursuit of health.

At last he happened to discover Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. He found relief quickly. Mr. Curry wrote:

"I have spent thousands of dollars for doctors and medicine and hardly got temporary relief, and before I took your medicine I was about discouraged. But after taking your medicine I got great relief. My mental and physical suffering had been so bad that I had to resort to morphine, and even with that I did not get much relief. Your remedy helped me wonderfully. I have a good appetite, sleep well, and have gained weight."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

CLEMENT J. MATHEWS KILLED

Deputy Coroner Lawrence B. Frye was notified to go to Waynesburg to take charge of Mathew's body. The party started home shortly after the noon hour.

Mr. Mathews has been a resident and business man of Charleroi for several years. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war, having been a cavalryman in the Philippines. He was twice married and those who survive him include three children.

Women Should Take Warning

If the statement made at a New York Assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression that are telltale symptoms of some organic derangement for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs—is a specific and may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition. Adv

HELP FOR POTATO GROWERS.

Finest of Tubers May Be Grown With the Aid of Embalming Fluid, Experiments Show.

It seems very curious that a chemical extensively used to preserve the dead in the way of an embalming fluid could be successfully used as a help toward growing good potatoes, but such is the case remarks an exchange.

It has been found that a proper solution of formaldehyde will insure a most excellent crop of the finest potatoes, where it has formerly been quite difficult to make certain soil grow anything but a very inferior crop.

To prevent scabby or rusty appearing potatoes, the potatoes to be planted should be soaked for two hours in a solution composed of one pint of pure formaldehyde to 50 gallons of water.

It may be placed in large tubs, and the potatoes put in burlap sacks and laid in the liquid for a couple of hours, and then spread out on clean grass to dry for an hour or more before cutting and planting.

The potatoes should be cut into pieces having two or more eyes from which to sprout.

One good plan where a number of bushels of potatoes are to be planted is to have the liquid in barrels, with spigot at the bottom for drawing off liquid.

Potatoes should not be gathered up, after being treated, in the same sacks or baskets they were in prior to being soaked, as they are apt to be reinfected more or less by the disease which is being fought.

In certain localities the potato has become so diseased it is almost impossible to secure pure healthy seed and this formaldehyde process is remedying the difficulty largely.

NATION HAD EXALTED IDEAS

Pyramids and Temples of Early Mexican Race Reveal Much to Student of Religion.

Religion and superstition are much combined in the mind of the Mexicans, the result of both ancient and modern creeds. As to the antique beliefs and cult, there is much that appeals to the philosopher in the religious structures and history of the prehistoric, semi-civilized peoples of Mexico, or indeed of Spanish-America, whether North or South.

The pyramids and temples which the Toltecs and the Aztecs and the Incas built have something grand and broad underlying their main idea, the idea of being able to get on their temples rather than in them.

There is ever a source of inspiration in being upon the point of an eminence, to commune with providence, rather than being immured within some gloomy walls, with toppling spires overhead. The spirit ever tries to get out, to ascend, and is exalted in accordance with its altitude.

Did not Moses at Sinai bring forth the enduring Decalogue from the summit of a great natural pyramid, rather than from the gloomy interior of a temple?

The exceedingly numerous pyramids throughout ancient Mexico seem to attest some exalted idea of a natural religion which found outlet and habitation in the great Teocallis.—New York Telegram.

An American.

A native of any part of North or South America is literally an American, since he is a native of one of the American continents. Usage, however, has narrowed the term so that "an American" is generally understood to be a citizen or native of the United States of America, while a native of Canada, Mexico, Central or South America is known as a "Canadian," "Mexican," "Brazilian," "Guatemalan," or the like. The reason for the usage does not lie in any feeling that the United States preempts, stands for, or overshadows the other parts of the western hemisphere, but simply in the fact that, while Canada, Mexico, Brazil, the United States of Colombia, etc., are words which admit of adjective formation, "American" is the only adjective which can be formed from the name of our country to denote its citizens or to apply to its interests, industries, cities, etc.

Wise Precaution.

Very few people are ambidextrous; that is, able to use the left hand as readily and skillfully as the right. But there is an amusing story of one Irishman who was careful to cultivate that art. When he was signing articles on board a ship he began to sign his name with his right hand, and then changed the pen to his left hand, and finished it.

"So you can write with either hand, Pat?" asked the officer.

"Yis, sorr," replied Pat. "Whin I was a buoy me father (rest his soul!) always said to me, 'Pat, learn to cut yer finger nails wid yer left hand, for some day ye might lose yer right!'"—Youth's Companion.

Blessing in Disguise.

"I don't see any billboards about here," said the visitor. "Do the residents object to that kind of advertising?"

"Yes, but their wishes in the matter had nothing to do with the disappearance of billboards hereabouts," said the Kansas man. "We have providence to thank for that."

"I don't understand."

"Well, every time we accumulate a stock of billboards a cyclone comes along and scatters them over six or seven counties."

How to Fight Tuberculosis

In a paper read last year before the Bexar County Medical Society and published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W. Carhart, of San Antonio, Texas, a physician who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis, said: "Since lime salts constitute three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, or natural starvation causes with tuberculosis unchecked. The widespread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to the decalcified (lime lacking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

[illegible] predisposition for the use of [illegible] treatment of tubercu[illegible]

Since lime is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alterative much of the success [illegible] the widespread use of this remedy doubtless is due to the combination of this salt in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. It causes no stomach disturbance and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

Eckman's Alterative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and allied chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

JUDGMENT ON LEGAL POINTS

Recent Decisions Handed Down That Are of More or Less General Importance.

The right of a person injured in a swinging door to recover for the negligence of another customer against the proprietor of a store has just been passed on by the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts in Smith vs. Johnson. The court held that where plaintiff, in entering defendants' store through a swinging door, put out her hand to guard her face from the door, which was swinging in her direction, and it was crushed between the door and the jamb, defendants were not liable, such door being in good condition and similar to those generally used, and there being no such crowd as would require the keeping of a doorman.

A similar ruling has been made in New York state by the appellate division, second department, by a majority vote, in Pardington vs. Abraham where the prevailing opinion said:

"The proof showed that similar doors, with springs of the same or greater strength, are in use at numerous like establishments in the borough of Manhattan. There does not appear to be anything about their construction or operation to make them dangerous to the customers of a department store, provided ordinary and reasonable care is exercised in their use. That it is possible to use them so as to injure others is demonstrated by this very accident; but carelessness in the use of any form of door may inflict injury upon one who happens to be sufficiently near it. No doubt the plaintiff has been the victim of a lamentable accident, but it is attributable, as it seems to me, not to any fault of the defendants, but rather to the hasty carelessness of a third person over whose movements and conduct they had no control."

Easy Case to Conduct.

Soft snaps are comparatively few, but the attorney for the defense when a good-looking woman is the defendant shouldn't worry much.—Atchison Globe.

DONT BE THIN AND SKINNY

New Treatment Will Make You Fat.

"I have been thin for years and began to think it was my naturalA gan to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable processes brought about by use of Tonoline Tablets so I decided to try them myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just forty pounds during the last forty days, and never felt stronger. Tonoline Tabs are a powerful inducer to nutrition, increases cell-growth, food, increases the number of blood-corpuscles and as a necessary result builds up muscles, and solid healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness this remarkable treatment may prove a revelation. It is a beauty maker as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener.

Go to your druggist and get a box of Tonoline Tablets and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. Tonoline tabs freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

Tonoline Tablets cost $1.00 for a 15-days' treatment, at druggists, or mailed by American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass.

LIQUOR AGENT PLEADS GUILTY AND PAYS HIS FINE OF $500

Sam Rose, a beer agent who has been operating in the West Brownsville section, indicted for violation of the liquor laws, entered a plea of guilty and made his contribution to the county treasury Monday. He paid a fine of $500, costs to the amount of $154.62 and additional costs of $26.16 imposed upon two of his employes who had failed to appear before the grand jury as commonwealth witnesses. Rose was granted a parole, but must divorce the liquor business absolutely. It is said Rose has been in trouble in Fayette county on account of his liquor selling activity. The commonwealth expected to show that Rose sold beer right off his wagons. He handled Donora Brewing company products.
